

Index to Volume LXXII

(2010–2011)

Page numbers in italics indicate illustrations. Roman numerals identify the issue
(I = Autumn; II = Winter; III = Spring).

- Adams, John, II:525; encourages M. Warren's writing career, II:515–17; offended by Warren's history of the American Revolution, II:524–30
- Armstrong, April C., "When Princeton Was a 'Hoodlum Factory': The Social Gospel, Princeton University, and the Town Club," II:584–92
- Banville, John, I:411; extract from a work in progress, I:45
- Barry, Sebastian: extract from a work in progress, I:47–52
- Bidwell, John, "Ryskamp in Retirement," II:620–24
- Bilby, Kenneth, "Picturing the Maroons in the Morant Bay Rebellion: Complicating the Imagery of Commemoration," II:574–83
- Bloody Sunday (Derry, Ireland), I:267–68
- Bolger, Dermot: extract from a work in progress, I:53–56
- Bowen, Elizabeth, I:36–37
- Breuer, Lindsey K., "If Only I Could Apparate, My Harry Potter Collection Would Truly Appreciate," III:735–41
- Bush, Alfred L., "Charles Ryskamp and Princeton," II:595–611
- Butler, Hubert, "Ronald Reagan and the Wall of Separation: A View from Ireland," I:59–65
- "Charles Ryskamp and Princeton," by Alfred L. Bush, II:595–611
- chiromancy, III:742–43, 744
- Collins, Wilkie: chiromantic reading of his hand, III:747, 748–49; and the sensational novel, III:744–46, 749–51
- Donleavy, J. P.: extract from a work in progress, I:67–73
- Donoghue, Emma, "The Body Swap," I:75–90
- Dorcey, Mary: extract from a work in progress, I:93–114
- Doyle, Roddy: extract from a work in progress, I:115–27
- Duperly, Adolphe: photography studio in Jamaica, II:336–37
- Duperly, Armand: photography studio in Jamaica, II:336–38; succeeded by sons, II:557, 558–59
- Edgeworth, Maria, I:26; portrait of, I:419
- Eliot, George, II:472; manuscript notes for a narrative poem, II:471–76
- Enright, Anne, "Punch and Poetry: The Irish Short Story in the Twenty-first Century," I:129–36
- Fisher, Nicholas, "A Surprise Appearance by the Earl of Rochester in Nineteenth-Century New York," II:569–73
- Foster, R. F., "The Novelist's Nose: The Progress and Uses of Irish Fiction," I:25–42
- "Future Fictions," by Fintan O'Toole, I:407–18

- Garzoni, Bandino: real estate transactions in Venice, II:487, 490, 493, 495–96, 508; social standing in medieval Venice, II:488–90, 505, 508–9
- Gaskin, Georgie: artwork for Horn-Book Jingles, III:847–50
- Gébler, Carlo: extract from a work in progress, I:139–76
- “A Gem of a Collection,” by Shirley M. Tilghman, I:15–17
- “George Eliot’s Notes for The Spanish Gypsy,” by Deborah Epstein Nord, II:471–76
- “Gwen John: Two Albums of Watercolors,” by Anna Gruetzner Robins, III:641–54
- Hamilton, Hugo, “The Returning,” I:177–82
- Healy, Dermot: extracts from “The Global Local,” I:185–97
- “Hidden Textures of Race and Historical Memory: The Rediscovery of Photographs Relating to Jamaica’s Morant Bay Rebellion,” by Mimi Sheller, II:533–67
- Higgins, Aidan, “On the Rack,” I:199–203
- Hogan, Desmond, “Café Remember,” I:205–16
- “‘How Full of Interest Are the Present Times!’: Anthony Trollope’s Letters to John Lewis Merivale, 1849–1862,” by Kathleen E. Urda, II:477–85
- “If Only I Could Apparate, My Harry Potter Collection Would Truly Appreciate,” by Lindsey K. Breuer, III:735–41
- imagology: and children’s literature, III:688–89
- Imholtz, August A., Jr., “Parrish the Thought: Alice’s Misadventures at Christ Church, Oxford,” III:752–60
- internationalism in children’s books, III:689–92; and depictions of foreign children, III:683–86, 695–712; and the universal child, III:692–94
- Ireland, William Henry, II:464; his career as forger, II:465–70
- Irish fiction: “Big House” novels, I:35–36; and child protagonists, I:412–15; and the Famine, I:29–30; politicization of, I:26–28; recurring themes, I:407–9; short stories, I:37, 131–36, 412; as source of social history, I:25, 28, 34, 35, 42; in the twentieth century, I:37–42, 409–10; in the twenty-first century, I:410–18
- Jefferson, Thomas, II:525; and histories of the American Revolution, II:521–24
- “The Jewish Presence in Irish Prose,” by Leonard L. Milberg, I:19–23
- John, Gwen: artistic practice, III:644, 646–51; gift of watercolors to A. Symons, III:641–43, 655–82; gifts of watercolors to others, III:652–53
- Johnston, Jennifer: extract from a work in progress, I:217–22
- Jordan, Neil: extract from a work in progress, I:225–29
- King, Martha J., “The ‘pen of the historian’: Mercy Otis Warren’s History of the American Revolution,” II:513–31
- Klinkenborg, Verlyn, “What Would Charles Have Said?” II:615–19
- Lauriat, Barbara, “Shilly-Shally Redux: Trollope, Reade, and Authorship,” III:713–32
- Leitch, Maurice: extract from a work in progress, I:231–40
- Lynch, Jack, “William Henry Ireland’s Forgeries, Unique and Otherwise,” II:465–70

- Madden, Deirdre: extract from a work in progress, I: 243–49
- Maroons (Jamaica), II: 561, 581; role in Morant Bay rebellion, II: 560–63, 578–79; songs and stories about rebellion, II: 574–76, 582
- McCabe, Patrick, “A Chump at Oxford,” I: 251–64
- McCann, Colum, “Movement on the Roundabout, Oh,” I: 267–73
- McGahern, John, I: 411–12
- McNamee, Eoin, “Archangel,” I: 275–82
- Milberg, Leonard L., “The Jewish Presence in Irish Prose,” I: 19–23
- Morant Bay rebellion (Jamaica), II: 535, 538–41, 543–54, 563, 565–66; photographs of participants, victims, and aftermath, II: 541, 547, 549, 552–53, 561, 564. See also Maroons
- Muldoon, Paul, “Sightseers,” I: 270
- “My Lady Sandys Her Receipts: A Manuscript of Cookery and Medicine,” by Theodore K. Rabb, II: 454–63
- Nord, Deborah Epstein: “Cover Note,” I: 419; “George Eliot’s Notes for The Spanish Gypsy,” II: 471–76
- “The Novelist’s Nose: The Progress and Uses of Irish Fiction,” by R. F. Foster, I: 25–42
- O’Brien, George: extract from a work in progress, I: 285–96
- O’Connor, Frank, I: 134, 414; on the Irish short story, I: 131–32, 133
- O’Connor, Joseph: extract from a work in progress, I: 297–318
- O’Doherty, Brian: extract from a work in progress, I: 321–46
- O’Faolain, Julia: extract from a work in progress, I: 349–70
- O’Faolain, Sean, I: 38–39; on the Irish short story, I: 132–33, 134
- O’Sullivan, Emer, “The Same But Different: Ambivalent Internationalism in Early Twentieth-Century Children’s Books,” III: 683–712
- O’Toole, Fintan, “Future Fictions,” I: 407–18
- Owenson, Sydney (Lady Morgan), I: 26, 28, 29
- Parrish, Morris L., III: 752–54, 759; negotiations with Christ Church, Oxford, III: 754–58
- “Parrish the Thought: Alice’s Misadventures at Christ Church, Oxford,” by August A. Imholtz Jr., III: 752–60
- “The ‘pen of the historian’: Mercy Otis Warren’s History of the American Revolution,” by Martha J. King, II: 513–31
- Philadelphian Society (Princeton University): founds and runs the Town Club, II: 584–92
- Phillips, Jenna, “Priced to Sell? The Medieval Housing Market in Venice and the Making of Bandino Garzoni,” II: 486–511
- “Picturing the Maroons in the Morant Bay Rebellion: Complicating the Imagery of Commemoration,” by Kenneth Bilby, II: 574–83
- “Priced to Sell? The Medieval Housing Market in Venice and the Making of Bandino Garzoni,” by Jenna Phillips, II: 486–511
- Quinn, John: as patron of G. John, III: 642, 651–52
- Rabb, Theodore K., “My Lady Sandys Her Receipts: A Manuscript of Cookery and Medicine,” II: 454–63
- Reade, Charles, III: 714; accused of plagiarism, III: 727, 730–31; approach to authorship, III: 728–30; champions rights of authors, III: 725–26, 730–31;

- Reade, Charles (cont.) dramatizes A. Trollope's novel,
 III:717–19; quarrel with A. Trollope,
 III:722–24
- Reagan, Ronald: and fundamentalism,
 I:60–61
- recipe and medicinal book from the 17th century, II:454–63
- “Remembering Charles,” by Bruce
 Redford, II:612–14
- “The Robert H. Taylor Bequest at Twenty-five,” by Don C. Skemer,
 II:435–38
- Robins, Anna Gruetzner, “Gwen
 John: Two Albums of Watercolors,”
 III:641–54
- Rochester, John Wilmot, earl of,
 II:569–73
- Ryskamp, Charles, II:594, 601, 605,
 610; memorial tributes to, II:595–
 624
- “Ryskamp in Retirement,” by John
 Bidwell, II:620–24
- “The Same But Different: Ambivalent
 Internationalism in Early Twentieth-Century Children's Books,” by Emer
 O'Sullivan, III:683–712
- separation of church and state, I:60– 65
- Shane, Beth, “Wilkie Collins and Nineteenth-Century Chiromancy,”
 III:742–51
- Sheller, Mimi, “Hidden Textures of Race and Historical Memory: The Rediscovery of Photographs Relating to Jamaica's Morant Bay Rebellion,”
 II:533–67
- Sheridan, Richard Brinsley, II:450, 466
- “Shilly-Shally Redux: Trollope, Reade, and Authorship,” by Barbara Lauriat, III:713–32
- Skemer, Don C.: “Cover Note,” II:627–
 30; “The Robert H. Taylor Bequest at Twenty-five,” II:435–38
- “A Surprise Appearance by the Earl of Rochester in Nineteenth-Century New York,” by Nicholas Fisher,
 II:569–73
- Symons, Arthur: acquires G. John watercolors, III:641–43
- Taylor, Robert H., II:434; bequest to Princeton University Library,
 II:435–38; interview with BBC
 Radio 4, II:439–53
- Taylor MS. I, II:627–30
- Tilghman, Shirley M., “A Gem of a Collection,” I:15–17
- Tóibín, Colm, I:39, 40–41; “A Pub
 Quiz,” I:371–90
- Trevor, William, “The Unknown Girl,”
 I:393–405
- Trollope, Anthony, I:29–30, II:478,
 III:715; approach to authorship,
 III:728–29; assessment of C. Reade,
 III:731–32; letters to J. L. Merivale,
 II:477–85; quarrel with C. Reade,
 III:720–22, 725; works for copyright law, III:726, 730, 731; W. Trevor on,
 I:25
- Troubles (Northern Ireland), I:40, 268–73
- Urda, Kathleen E., “‘How Full of Interest Are the Present Times!':
 Anthony Trollope's Letters to John
 Lewis Merivale, 1849–1862,” II:
 477–85
- Venice: civic procession in, II:509–10;
 medieval real estate activity, II:487, 490, 493–96, 499, 501, 504, 508;
 system of justice, II:497–98, 505;
 and urban mobility, II:504, 507–
 508
- Warren, Mercy Otis, II:512, 514; publishes her history of the American Revolution, II:517–21; relationship with J. Adams, II:515–17, 518, 524–

- 29; relationship with T. Jefferson,
11:521–24
- “What Would Charles Have Said?” by Verlyn Klinkenborg, 11:615–19
- “When Princeton Was a ‘Hoodlum Factory’: The Social Gospel, Princeton University, and the Town Club,” by April C. Armstrong, 11:584–92
- “Wilkie Collins and Nineteenth-Century Chiromancy,” by Beth Shane, 111:742–51
- “William Henry Ireland’s Forgeries, Unique and Otherwise,” by Jack
Lynch, 11:465–70
- Yeats, William Butler, 1:33–34
- Young, Matthew McLennan, “Cover
Note,” 111:847–50