

Index to Volume LXX

(2008–2009)

Page numbers in italics indicate illustrations. Roman numerals identify the issue
(I = Autumn; II = Winter; III = Spring).

- Adamowicz, Elsa, “The Surrealist Artist’s Book: Beyond the Page,” II:265–91
- Adelheid, Marie, Prinzessin Reuß, Prinzessin zur Lippe, I:53–54.
See also Gott in mir
- Aldine Publishing Company, I:206–9
- anti-Semetism: in volkisch movements, I:89–92, 96–98, 108*ni*03
- “Athens.—Photographed by W.J. Stillman,” by Andrew Szegedy-Maszak, III:399–432
- À toute épreuve* (Éluard/Miró): collaboration of poet, artist, publisher, II:268, 270
- “Authorial Authority in the Early Age of Printing: Clément Marot (1496–1544),” by François Rigolot, I:35–48
- “The Authority of Frederick Morgan,” by Dana Gioia, II:293–301
- “The Banality of Modern Warfare: A Child’s View of the Great War, 1919,” by Natalia Holstein, III:528–33
- Bank of England: note forged in a concentration camp, I:234
- Barbados: emancipation of slaves, III:371, 395–97; planter society, III:373–75 379–83, 396; sugar and slave economy, III:373, 380, 386, 394
- Barber, Ian, “Dream Mines and Religious Identity in Twentieth-Century Utah: Insights from the Norman C. Pierce Papers,” III:433–69
- Beenk, Jody, “Conserving Le surréalisme en 1947,” II:348–52
- Bellmer, Hans: collaboration with P. Éluard, II:284, 286–87, 288
- Boarded Hall Estate, Barbados, III:387; history of ownership, III:372–79, 384; slaves, III:385–86
- Bonet, Paul: bindings for surrealist books, II:272, 273
- Borzelli, Giovanni: former owner of Princeton commonplace book, I:16–17
- Boullosa, Carmen, “Juan Pascoe’s Mexico City,” III:539–50
- “Bound to Last: Commonplace Books and the Pursuit of a Reading Past,” by Suzanne J. Podhurst, I:9–34
- Brand Book of the Northwestern Stockgrowers’ Association*, I:237
- Brown, Ainsley, “Cover Note,” II:353–58
- Browne, Hablôt Knight: watercolor by, I:163
- “Brownshirt Princess: A Firestone Library Testimony to Twentieth-Century German History,” by Lionel Gossman, I:49–130
- Buber, Martin, I:74; popularity in volkisch circles, I:108–10
- Christianity: versus true German religion, I:93–95, 99, 100; volkisch rejection of, in Germany, I:71–73, 84, 88–90, 96–97, 123–30
- Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (LDS, Mormons): and

- Church of Latter-day Saints (cont.)
 assimilation into American culture, III:436–38; Book of Mormon, III:440, 459, 464, 465; rejects spiritual claims for dream mines, III:445–47, 450, 466; and unofficial religious expression, III:436–38, 455–58, 466, 467–68
- commonplace book: and the preservation of ephemera, I:11, 29–32; in Princeton University Library (General MS. Bound, no. 129), I:8, 9–34; as a record of reading habits, I:19, 21, 26–29, 33–34; as a source of entertainment, I:11, 21–25; as a source of knowledge, I:10–11
- Connick, Charles J.: designs Princeton Chapel windows, III:501–2, 505
 “Conserving Le surréalisme en 1947,” by Jody Beenk, II:348–52
- Cram, Ralph Adams, III:470, 496;
 as advocate of Gothic architecture, III:471–74; and iconography of Princeton Chapel windows, III:474, 476, 498n68, 504, 505, 509; his likeness in a Chapel window, III:512, 515
- Cramer, Gérard: publisher of À toute éprouve, II:269, 278
- Dalí, Salvador: contributions to surrealist books, II:270; illustrations for Alice in Wonderland, II:284, 285
- Decembrio, Angelo: De politia litteraria, I:216–18
- dream mines: and Mormon culture, III:439–42, 447, 464–65; Syndicate Mine, III:447–50. See also Koyle, John H.
- “Dream Mines and Religious Identity in Twentieth-Century Utah: Insights from the Norman C. Pierce Papers,” by Ian Barber, III:433–69
- Duchamp, Marcel: on conservation of his artwork, II:350; as creator of surrealist exhibition catalogues, II:265, 266, 267, 348, 351
- Eckhart, Meister: influence on German religious currents, I:74–75, 84
- Les Éditions Surréalistes, II:269
- Éluard, Paul: his affinity for visual arts, II:355, 356–58; À toute éprouve (original edition), II:271; À toute éprouve (with J. Miró), II:270, 278, 279, 280, 288–90; collaboration with H. Bellmer, II:284, 286–87, 288; collaborations with M. Ernst, II:270, 274, 275; collaboration with Man Ray, II:270, 282, 283, 284; political poetry, II:354–56
- Ernst, Max: collaborations with P. Éluard, II:270, 274, 275; other surrealist publications, II:270, 274–75, 276–77
- Esherick, Wharton: woodcut for W. Whitman poem, I:145
- Eumenes I: silver tetradrachm of, I:198, 199
- “Ezra Pound and Camillo Pellizzi: Two Unorthodox Fascists,” by Luca Gallesi, II:302–5
- Fahrenkrog, Ludwig: Baldur, I:79, 80; and the German Faith Community, I:72, 98n86, 99n87; on “God in us,” I:103–5
- Fautrier, Jean: illustrations for Dignes de vivre (Éluard), II:353–54
- Fraktur lettering: and volkisch ideologies, I:70n26
- “Frederick Morgan and The Hudson Review,” by William Pritchard, II:335–42
- Friend, Albert Mathias, Jr., III:475, 516, 517; guides C. Connick’s window designs, III:501–2, 505; and iconography of Princeton Chapel windows, III:474, 476, 477, 482, 483, 485–90, 491–500, 506, 509, 510–12
- Gallesi, Luca, “Ezra Pound and Camillo Pellizzi: Two Unorthodox Fascists,” II:302–5

- Gallo, Rubén, "Princeton's Pathé-Baby: A Relic of the Belle époque," II:343-47
- Garrett MS. 151: Middle English verse in, I:135-37, 142
- Germany: social and cultural movements leading to National Socialism, I:49-130
- Gioia, Dana, "The Authority of Frederick Morgan," II:293-301
- Gossman, Lionel: "Brownshirt Princess: A Firestone Library Testimony to Twentieth-Century German History," I:49-130; "Cover Note," I:245-50
- Gott in mir* (Adelheid), I:49-50, 51, 53, 70, 71; as representative of cultural and religious currents in Germany, I:68-69, 73-122; as a volkisch work, I:71-73
- Hanna, Ralph, "Unnoticed Middle English Verse in Princeton University Library Manuscripts," I:131-42
- Harnage, George (aka George Blackman): and the Age of Reform in Britain, III:397-98; and loss of Boarded Hall Estate, III:373, 376-79, 395-96; naval career, III:388-94; upbringing, III:384, 388
- Hart, Julius: and Lebensreform in Germany, I:76, 82-83, 93
- Hauer, Jakob Wilhelm: and the German Faith Movement, I:72, 95, 97, 104n98, 109-10
- Hibben, John Grier, III:503; goal for new chapel, III:481-82; and iconography of Princeton Chapel windows, III:506; and secularization of Princeton University, III:478-79
- Hitler, Adolf: on art, I:66n22; on theories of Nordic supremacy, I:67n24
- Hoetger, Bernhard, I:62n17, 67n22; Lebensbaum, I:64, 65
- Holstein, Natalia, "The Banality of Modern Warfare: A Child's View of the Great War, 1919," III:528-33
- Höppener, Hugo (Fidus, pseud.), I:62n17, 82n48; illustration by, I:83
- "How I Lost Ezra Pound's Letters," by Camillo Pellizzi, II:306-11
- The Hudson Review*, II:334; archives, II:300, 321-33; and fiction, II:297; and literary criticism, II:294-97, 321-23, 326-27, 337; and poetry, II:297, 298-99, 327-28
- "The Hudson Review Archives: A Short Overview," by Brian J. McDonald, II:321-33
- Hugnet, Georges, II:269, 270, 272
- Iliazd [Ilia Zdanevich], II:269, 274-75
- John of England: charter with Great Seal, I:197
- "Juan Pascoe's Mexico City," by Carmen Boullosa, III:539-50
- Kane MS. 21: Middle English verse in, I:132-35, 138-42
- Koyle, John H., III:443, 469; excommunication, III:466; and his Relief Mine, III:434, 439, 442-47, 450-52, 458-65, 467; legacy of his Relief Mine, III:467-69; prophecies by, III:452-55, 457, 465
- Lebensphilosophie: in Germany, I:110-12
- Lebensreform: appeal of, in Germany, I:75-84
- literary journals: in the United States, II:294-95, 297-98, 299
- Maclean, John, Sr.: inventory of his possessions, I:202, 203
- Man Ray: Facile (with P. Éluard), II:270, 282, 283, 284; other surrealist collaborations, II:272
- Marot, Clément, I:37; and the development of intellectual ownership, I:38-43, 44-46, 47; as poet and translator, I:35-38

- McDonald, Brian J., “The Hudson Review Archives: A Short Overview,” II:321–33
- Mexico City: literary scene of the 1970s and 1980s, III:539–48
- Milbank, Albert: and Princeton Chapel windows, III:503–6
- Milliner, Matthew J., “Primus inter pares: Albert C. Friend and the Argument of the Princeton University Chapel,” III:471–517
- Miró, Joan: À toute éprouve (with P. Éluard), II:270, 278, 279, 280, 288–90; Parler seul (with T. Tzara), II:269, 288, 289
- “Modernity and Regret: A Barbados Family and Its Place in the British Empire, 1676–1842,” by Farah Peterson, III:369–98
- monism: appeal of, in Germany, I:85–88
- Montaigne, Michel de, I:47–48
- Morgan, Frederick, II:292; as editor of The Hudson Review, II:293, 298–300, 339–40; papers of, II:330–31; as poet, II:300–301
- Mullen, Jac, “A Zealous Declaration,” III:520–27
- Nero: provincial bronze of, I:198, 199
- oak tree: as symbol of Germanic faith, I:102
- Omar Beg: silver gigliato of, I:199, 200
- Pascoe, Juan: and Taller Martín Pescador, III:541–45, 548–49
- Pathé-Baby film projector, II:343–47
- Pellizzi, Camillo, II:304; “How I Lost Ezra Pound’s Letters,” II:306–11
- Peterson, Farah, “Modernity and Regret: A Barbados Family and Its Place in the British Empire, 1676–1842,” III:369–98
- Pfemfert, Franz: Die Aktion, I:52, 245–46, 248
- Picasso, Pablo: engravings for edition of H. Balzac, II:268, 269
- Pierce, Norman C.: Dream Mine Story, III:438, 451, 458–59, 465, 467; fundamentalist beliefs, III:467; papers, III:434, 468. See also Koyle, John H.
- Piranesi, Giovanni Battista: catalog inciso, I:224
- Podhurst, Suzanne J., “Bound to Last: Commonplace Books and the Pursuit of a Reading Past,” I:9–34
- Pound, Ezra, II:303; and The Hudson Review, II:329–30; in Italy, II:302–11
- “Primus inter pares: Albert C. Friend and the Argument of the Princeton University Chapel,” by Matthew J. Milliner, III:471–517
- Princeton Mesoamerican Manuscript no. 20, I:191
- “Princeton’s Pathé-Baby: A Relic of the Belle époque,” by Rubén Gallo, II:343–47
- Princeton University: campus architecture, III:471–72; iconography of Chapel windows, III:474, 482, 483, 485–90, 491–500, 506, 509, 510, 512; and liberal Protestantism, III:508, 517; required chapel attendance, III:479–80, 509–10; student religious life, III:510, 512, 517; student skepticism about religion, III:480–82; tradition of harmonizing science and religion, III:490–91
- Pritchard, William, “Frederick Morgan and The Hudson Review,” II:335–42
- religion: and volkisch movements in Germany, I:84–107
- Rigolot, François, “Authorial Authority in the Early Age of Printing: Clément Marot (1496–1544),” I:35–48
- Roselius, Ludwig, I:60n12, 63; patron of volkisch artists, I:63–64; publisher and patron of theorists of Nordic supremacy, I:64–68

- Sapolio soap: advertisement for, I:180
- Schwaner, Wilhelm, I:62n17; Germanen-Bibel, I:72, 101–3; on a new religion for Germany, I:94, 97
- Spencer, Theodore, II:312; journals, 313–20
- Stillman, William James, III:401; approach to photographing Athens, III:410–11; and the Adirondac Club, III:407–8; early life, III:399–402; founds The Crayon, III:405–7; influenced by J. Ruskin, III:402–4, 405, 409, 422; photographs of Athens and Acropolis, III:411–31; and the Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies, III:431–32
- surrealism: and the book, II:265–66, 271–72, 281–91
- “The Surrealist Artist’s Book: Beyond the Page,” by Elsa Adamowicz, II:265–91
- Szegedy-Maszak, Andrew, “Athens.—Photographed by W.J. Stillman,” III:399–432
- theosophy and anthroposophy: appeal of, in Germany, I:73, 84–85, 95; attacked by National Socialists, I:96n78
- “This Time, That Time: The Journals of Theodore Spencer,” by Michael Wood, II:313–20
- Tomaso Campofregoso: gold ducat of, I:199, 200
- Tzara, Tristan: Parler seul (with J. Miró), II:269, 288, 289
- “Unnoticed Middle English Verse in Princeton University Library Manuscripts,” by Ralph Hanna, I:131–42
- Vogeler, Heinrich, I:54; illustration for Gott in mir, I:50, 51, 245, 248–50; other illustrations by, I:52, 55, 56, 59; religious and socialist beliefs, I:54–62; war experiences, I:246–47
- Washington Irving and His Literary Friends at Sunnyside* (engraving), I:153
- Wit, Frederick de: detail from his “Tractus australior Americæ Meridionalis,” I:174
- Wood, Michael, “This Time, That Time: The Journals of Theodore Spencer,” II:313–20
- World War I: representations of, in British children’s literature, III:528–33
- “A Zealous Declaration,” by Jac Mullen, III:520–27