

Interviewee Oral History Project Recording and Restrictions Release Form

I do hereby consent to be recorded during an interview for an oral history project conducted in conjunction with the Seeley G. Mudd Manuscript Library at Princeton University. I, _____ (name of interviewee), consent to the recording of this interview conducted by _____ (name of interviewer) on _____ (dd/mm/yyyy). I agree that this interview (a recording and a transcript) may be deposited in the Princeton University Archives collection, and the staff of the Seeley G. Mudd Manuscript Library will endeavor to preserve and make the interview accessible to others, including through the Library's online finding aid.

I expressly release Princeton University, its trustees, officers, agents, employees and assigns from any and all claims or liabilities, including copyright, privacy and defamation, arising out of any broadcast, exhibition, publication, promotion, or other use of this material. I consent to the publication and distribution of this interview, including on the internet, in all its formats, with the understanding that Princeton University shall not sell the material or the rights to use such material for a commercial purpose. Nothing herein shall limit Princeton University's rights under the copyright doctrine of fair use or any other similar laws governing the use of intellectual property.

I have been made aware of my right to refuse to discuss certain subjects, to restrict access to the interview, to choose anonymity and/or pseudonymity, and to end the interview at any time. Should I wish any restriction to the use of the oral history to apply, I will designate the restriction(s) herein.
